

Title

How to shutdown password hashing application gracefully - Linux environment

Type*Priority*Estimate

Application		1 - 2 minutes
-------------	--	---------------

Preconditions

1. Linux machine (for example Ubuntu, CentOS).
2. Some prior basic knowledge of Linux and how to navigate via command line.
3. Need multiple Terminals.

Steps*Expected Results

1	Open a new instance of Terminal and run the following command: curl -X POST -d shutdown http://127.0.0.1:8088/hash	Two messages should display in the Terminal from which the server was started in the following format: 2019/10/24 14:36:52 Shutdown signal received 2019/10/24 14:36:52 Shutting down
---	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Postconditions

The server shuts down gracefully. The user should not be able to send any requests when shutdown is pending.